

Amblyopia is also called “lazy eye.” It happens when one eye is stronger than the other, so the other eye looks off centered.

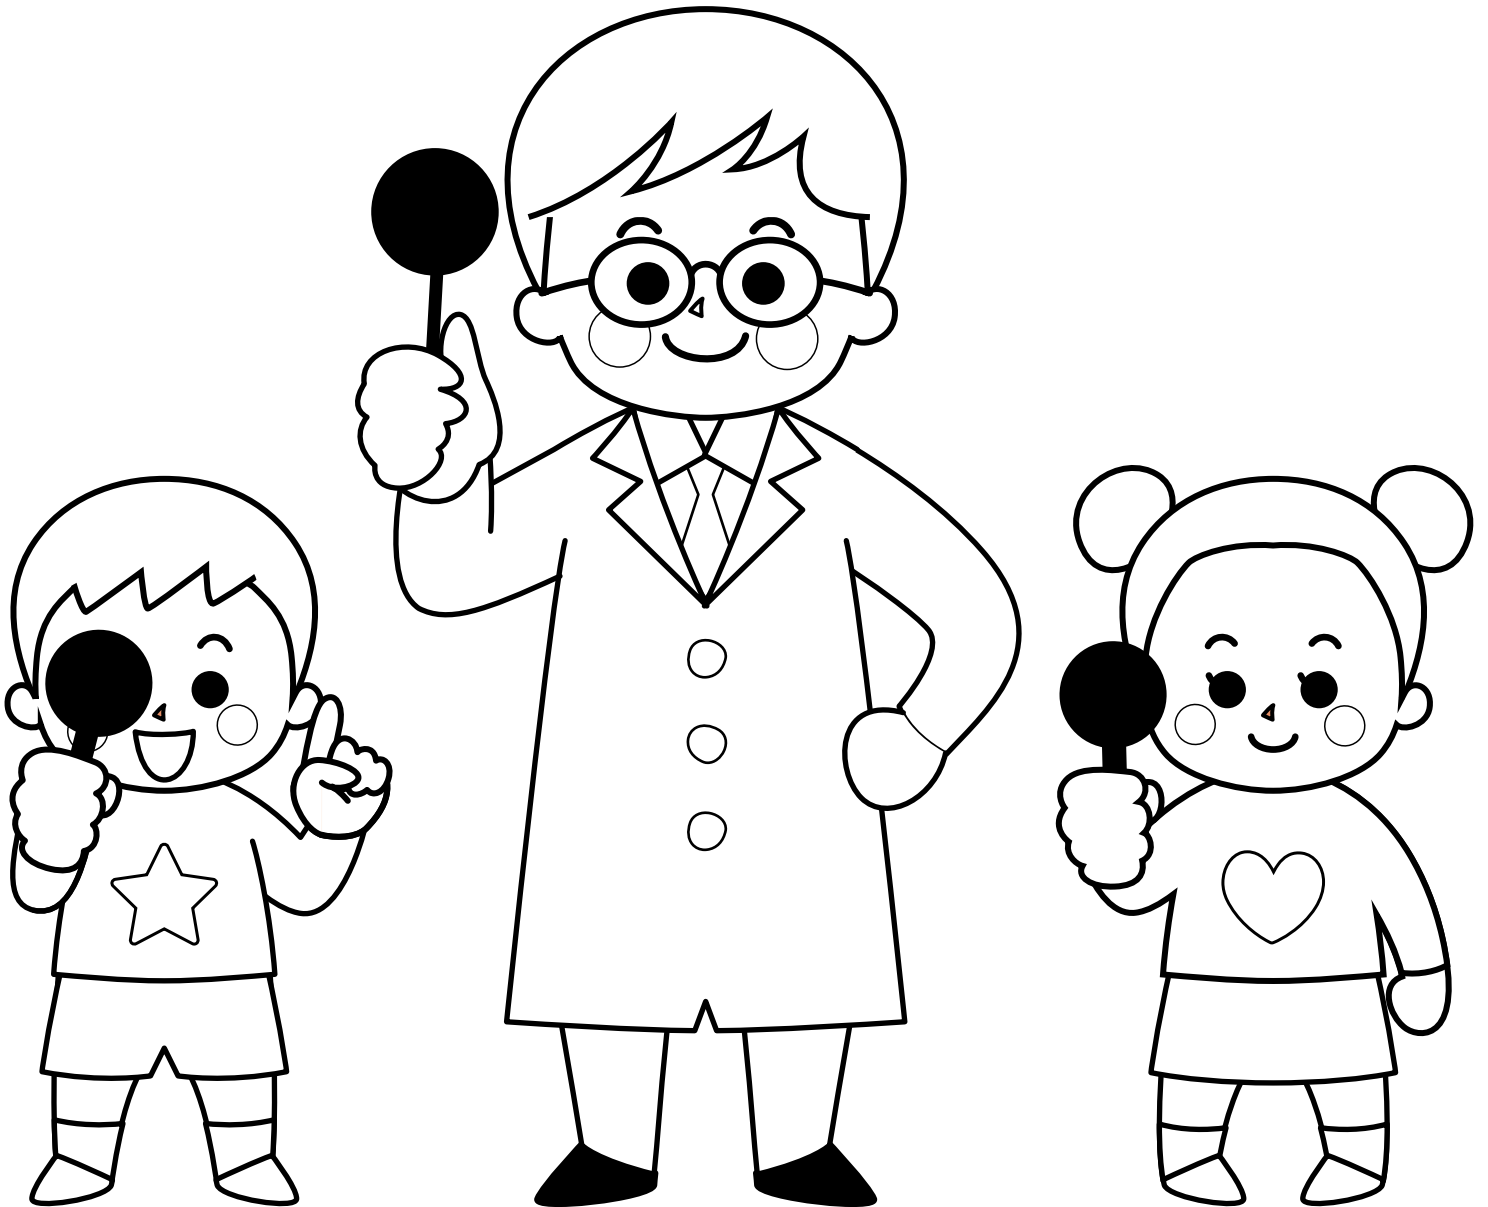

Amblyopia doesn't mean that the eye is lazy! The brain just uses the stronger eye more.

E

is for eye.

In a group of 100 kids, about 3 will have amblyopia.

Kids with amblyopia can wear an eye patch to help make their eye stronger!

